WORKERS WITHDRAW RESIGNATIONS FROM BULGARIAN COOPERATIVES

Stalin, October -- In the spring of this year, some vacillating farmers, members of a farm workers' cooperative, submitted applications to leave the cooperative. However, most of these farmers continued to take part in the activity of the cooperative.

The members of the cooperative harvested a record crop. After the harvest, great quantities of grain stuffs, vegetables, wool, cheese, oleomargarine, and other products, as well as money, were distributed. The needs of the members were satisfied, and they had a great excess of products left, which they may now freely market. The members of the cooperatives of the okrug received in advance an average of 5-8 kilograms of wheat per workday, in addition to money and other products.

After the publication of the recent resolution of the Central Committee of the BCP (Bulgarian Communist Party) concerning the economic, organizational, and political consolidation of the farm workers' cooperatives, the regional committees of the BCP, the district committees of the BCP, the Fatherland Front, the people's soviets, and the administrative councils of the farm workers' cooperatives organized meetings to examine and study the resolution.

At these meetings, the administrative councils of the farm workers' cooperatives gave accounts which criticized the mistab and weaknesses allowed to occur in the organization of labe., the distribution of income, and the application of the Model Statute. They denounced enemy and kulak elements which had in some way penetrated the cooperative movement and carried out disorganizing and sabotaging activity, thereby hampering the development of the farm workers' cooperatives. After the depunciation, these elements were expelled from the cooperatives.

Withdrawal applications were also discussed. Because the members of the cooperatives received rich remuneration for their labor, Christo Mirchev, member of the Zonevo village cooperative in Provadiya Okoliya, asked the administrative council at the meeting to return his application for withdrawal. In She village of Cherventsi, Provadiya Okoliya, members Marin Dimitrov, Docho Yordonov, T. Vasilev, and Zlati Kole withdrew their applications.
